What works in Human Services across the Globe?

Looking at experiences with structures, the organization of human services and social policies in an international perspective

International Online Summer School 2020 at the Evangelische Hochschule Nürnberg

The current corona pandemic has shown us the relevance of the provision of human services – medical care, senior care, daycare centers, and more. People and their needs are quite similar in different countries – but what are our experiences with the provision, the organization, and the funding of human services.

What works? What can we learn from each other? And what is the perspective after corona?

Experts from different countries talk about their perspective:
